Legends of America Beyond the Web

Legends Of America has been proud to assist several production companies for various projects and television shows, including works for The History Channel, Travel Channel, Discovery Channel, Military Channel, the movie 3:10 to Yuma and others, through the use of photos and stock images we offer at Legends Photo Print Shop.

Kathy Weiser-Alexander, editor and founder of Legends Of America, has several published works including Old West Lawmen, Lynching's, Hanging's & Vigilante Groups, co-author on Greetings from Route 66, Frontier Slang, Lingo & Phrases, and her first published work, Great American Bars and Saloons, which was used by the Set Decorating Coordinator for Sci West Productions work in the movie “Cowboy and Aliens”, which we just think is cool. The book was also utilized to design an authentic saloon and hand-crafted bar in northern Missouri.

Kathy and Husband/Co-Owner Dave have also appeared in the 2014 DVD Ghost Towns: America's Lost World, from Centre Communications and Mill Creek Entertainment, and Kathy made an appearance with her historic take on the “Bloody Benders” for the Television Show “Evil Kin” on ID (Investigation Discovery channel) (original air date 8/12/14). In 2015, Kathy also appeared in two episodes of the AHC (American Heroes Channel) series Gunslingers, first about Bat Masterson, then another on Bill Doolin, both airing in August 2015. In March of 2016, she appeared in the AHC series “American Lawmen in season 1 espisode “Dallas Stoudenmire: The Hero of El Paso”. Kathy also appeared in the Urban Movie Channel’s “True First” Season 1: Episode 6 “Bass Reeves” in March of 2019. In addition, we have provided material for several magazines, including Flying Adventures, Womans Day, Colorado Magazine Online, Dezert Magazine, AZ Reporter, and Collectors Press among others.

Opportunities for Your Business/Destination:

Partners/Sponsors

For more than 15 years we have traveled across America writing about interesting travel destinations, historic characters, and the legends and tales of this great country. We now haul a travel trailer several times a year to various locations across the United States, writing stories, posting photos, blogging, and publishing reviews as we go. While we try to visit as many attractions and locations as we can, we can't see them all, nor write about them all. However, those that can provide passes, discounts, etc., get our attention. And, though we will write & review numerous places, we are quick to show our gratitude by publishing a full article on Legends of America, or list in our attractions, blog, & social media, and travel reviews, with links back to their website. Whether it be a couple of free nights stay at your RV Park, a meal, or tickets to your attraction, we would love to come see you*
